Camco Financial Corporation: Corporate Headquarters

Camco Financial Corporation, parent company of Advanatage Bank, is a multi-bank holding company managing over 30 offices throughout Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia. From this new corporate headquarters, Camco provides oversight, conducts training and develops strategic planning and expansion initiatives for its Advantage Bank divisions and other subsidiaries. The very functional training room equips them to achieve their goals by utilizing a state of the art media wall that is so versatile it can handle anything a presenter may need.

Davis Architectural Group designs buildings that function as intended. Their talent for great aesthetic decisions is where they really excel. The outside dining patio, the training room, and the elegant reception area are small touches creating what Dave Caldwell, SVP of Retail Banking for Advantage Bank, calls, “an attractive building that is very functional.”

Built with expansion in mind, the furnace and electrical systems were specified for easy, cost effective expansion. The central open office environment, as well as the private offices on the perimeter, can be expanded with minimal interruption of daily tasks allowing the building to grow as the corporation grows.

The site was ideally located near the interstate, but it had its challenges. Ron Van Wey, of DAG, said “The site required an extensive amount of work to make it usable. Rock covered most of the site just inches below the surface. Behind where the building now stands, there was a very unattractive rocky hillside that needed special attention.” Significant amounts of topsoil, a perimeter drainage system, and pine tree slope enhancement worked as the perfect solution to give the appropriate backdrop for a facility of this stature.

Whether your need is an entirely new building, or an addition to your existing facility, DAG will provide creative solutions and innovative designs. Call 740-432-3976 or log on to www.davisarchgroup.com.

“They were very creative in the design of the building and their use of space. Our customers all tell us they are ‘very impressed’ and say the space is ‘very nice.’”

Terrazzo tile, rich finishes and woods, custom mahogany reception desk with a curved wooden wall —these all give the office a fitting appearance for a corporate headquarters.

The feature-rich media wall employs state of the art equipment that easily handles diverse needs of presenters and facilitators.
