MEDIA RELEASE

Ron Van Wey, AIA, VP of Davis Architectural Group Achieves LEED Accreditation

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, August 5, 2009 – Davis Architectural Group is proud to announce that Ron Van Wey, AIA has become a LEED Accredited Professional in the U.S. Green Building Council's Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) program.

The LEED Green Building Rating System™ is the nationally accepted benchmark for the design, construction, and operation of high performance green buildings. LEED Accredited Professionals have demonstrated a thorough understanding of green building practices and principles and familiarity with LEED requirements, resources, and processes.

John Davis, AIA, President of Davis Architectural Group, said, "Ron and I are deeply committed to helping our clients create highly energy-efficient facilities. Clients in every segment of our business, including industrial, education, government, medical and corporate, are interested in energy efficient designs for new-build and renovation projects. Ron's LEED accreditation demonstrates Davis Architectural Group's commitment to helping our clients find creative and innovative ways to save energy and construction dollars while meeting their facility needs."

Van Wey graduated cum laude from Kent State University with a Bachelor of Science in Architecture. He joined Davis Architectural Group in 1989, became a Registered Architect in 1991, and was named Vice President of the firm in 1997. Ron serves as Project Architect and also manages design production and quality control. Ron has led the design team for numerous local and regional projects including the Cambridge Middle School, John Glenn High School
